Dear Chairman Genachowski:

I have become aware that you are currently reviewing Comcast's proposed partnership with NBC Universal, and I would like to voice the support of my organization, the Urban League of Middle Tennessee, for this venture. On all levels of its business practices and community interactions we have seen dedication and commitment to issues of diversity, and we wholeheartedly endorse Comcast's actions.

The focus of the Urban League of Middle Tennessee is to provide support and resources for African Americans and other minority groups and to promote equality and diversity throughout the greater Nashville area. We provide many programs to our citizens, including adult education and job training, with the goal of empowering our community to improve themselves and the city around them.

Comcast not only supports the Urban League and other non-profits working with African American populations, but also it has supported the growth of the minority business community through the ubiquitous deployment of broadband. Comcast also provides broadband access where many others do not. In many cases this service is provided as a courtesy to libraries and schools. By connecting those who might not otherwise have internet access, the company is bettering the disadvantaged and bettering our overall society. Comcast's efforts should be recognized and praised by all of us.

The Urban League of Middle Tennessee is also a longtime Comcast Cares Day partner. We look forward to spending time with Comcast employee volunteers every year as they work alongside us. Comcast also participates in our career fairs, youth programs and is a prominent supporter of our annual Equal Opportunity Luncheon. In other words, Comcast helps us in almost all of our local endeavors.

Comcast is a great example of what it means to be committed to diversity and to be a good corporate citizen. The Urban League of Middle Tennessee is very grateful for the work Comcast does – with us and others – and we want to see the company thrive. Therefore, we respectfully share our support and ask for approval of the NBC Universal venture promptly.

Sincerely,

Patricia Parrish Stokes President and CEO

Urban League of Middle Tennessee

Patricial Stokes
